Thanks Brenda,

Not the clearest story I have seen regarding the oil patch.

Keep us posted if EPA decides to "suspend its agreement with the health department until it begins testing special waste landfills for liquids."

We did run one paint filter test on some material when we were out and could certainly have done more if needed.

Oh well, so much for the press. If you need further info, let me know.

THANKS!

Hi Steve,

We got this story yesterday.
